

Jeremy Leaper Joins Covestic

KIRKLAND, WASH., November 2008 – Jeremy Leaper, a business development professional, has joined Covestic Inc. "Covestic represents clear, consistent and smart IT solutions," Leaper said. "It's good to be part of this successful team."

"Jeremy's deep understanding of strategic development for information technology makes him an incredible addition to our team," commented John Schaffer, Covestic's chief executive officer. "His experience in developing and delivering IT solutions is a major asset for our clients."

Current Covestic clients include T-Mobile, AT&T Mobility, Nuance and Microsoft.

About Covestic

Covestic is a leading business and IT consulting services company established in 2001 to design, build and implement solutions that drive operations improvement and enable value creating growth. Covestic applies recognized thought leadership and proprietary client engagement methodologies to deliver unparalleled business, technology, and innovation solutions to the rapidly changing communications and consumer electronics industries. Covestic brings a pragmatic approach that is based on industry best practices but customized to meet the specific needs of every unique client organization.

www.covestic.com.

###